Halo
>
 You're in a tight situation. You are in the building. You need to get out fast. The hunters are coming after you. You have nowhere to hide. How will you survive? You could hide in a corner and wait or them to find you. You could give up, but no. You are the Chief. You don't give up. You must get out of there with the plans without getting killed. But is that possible?
>
 You start to run but then you see some grunt. You take them out with two shots with your shotgun. Then you see them. The hunters. These guys are tough. They will hit you twice, and you're dead. You fire and fire but they keep shooting their plasma pistol at you. You finally kill them and you are on your way out. Then you see Halo. It is set to go off in 40 seconds. You must get out? of there. But how? Where do you go?You guess which way to go and you got lucky. You made it out just before the explosion. You are safe.
